

I Love it When a Plan Comes Together ... Well almost!

Welcome back! It's fantastic to see all the smiling and eager faces on the children this morning as well as the relieved faces on many parents as they face the enticing prospect of not seeing their darlings for a whole 6 ½ hours given that for the last two weeks it's been a little busy. Oh, and by the way, because "winta is koomin" you can save yourself the anxiety of worrying about those extra kilograms (as a result of an overindulgence in chocolate in the last fortnight) because you will need them to keep warm (well that's my excuse anyway).

I am delighted to inform you that our undercover refurbishment plan is underway. If you walked past the undercover area this morning you couldn't have missed it. The laying of carpet is 90% completed and the colours are fantastic (thanks Mr Rijnhart). I must admit it takes a little getting used to at first but if you give your eyes times to adjust you will see there is a plan to the pattern. I'll leave it up to you to work it out, suffice to say I'm sure the chess players will be happy.

The really exciting thing is that the laying of carpet on the concrete floor is just the first part of a refurbishment plan that the P&C Association has for this part of the school. After concentrating their efforts for the last two years on improving our IT resources and building our Science Lab they have decided to refurbish this area that is in essence the centre of activity in our school. The list includes...

- Carpet
- A stage facade
- Digital projector and screen
- Stage curtains
- Improved stage sound and lighting
- Window glazing
- Solar powered roof ventilation
- Signage
- Pinup boards

Money raised by the P&C this year will go towards the costs associated with these improvements. So a really big thank you in anticipation of your support for the P&C this year (the Edu-Dance Concert was a wonderful evening). The next fundraising activity is the Mother's Day stall next week so look for information about this during the week.

Oh on other news... look out this week for information from the P&C's Canteen Committee on how you can order your child/ren lunch on Mondays and Wednesdays beginning next Monday.

Have a good day.

Kind regards

Kim Guelfi

PS Yep, I've been teased a little this morning about the state of the AFL ladder. Freo 2nd and West Coast 12th. It appears as though the plan Freo didn't know they had is working and the one West Coast have isn't!
